New York, Sept. 3—The yacht race was today declared off till later in the day.

THOMPSON GOT TIRED

NOTHING WAS RECEIVED RELATIVE TO HIS ALLEGED DESERTION.

No further information has been received from Washington by the local U. S. army recruiting office about the identity of Lee Thompson, wanted as a deserter, who was supposed might be a man of that name who applied here for service. The man under suspicion waited several days and then left, and nothing has been heard of him for two weeks.

LIBRARY BOARD

MEETING TO BE HELD THIS EVENING BY MEMBERS.

The Carnegie library trustees will hold a meeting this evening for the purpose of taking some action regarding the furniture and other matters connected with the building and its completion. It will be the first meeting held in some time. The building is nearly finished and ready for the city to receive.

Mrs. C. B. Robb and daughter, Miss Jennie Robb, will leave tonight for St. Louis on a visit.

A SHOOTING SCRAPE

Bud Nance Alleged to Have Shot Tom Ryman.

He and Katie Hite Were Arrested and Placed in the Lockup Today.

TRIAL SET FOR TOMORROW

Bud Nance and Katie Hite were arrested this morning the former by Officers Senger and Dugan and the latter by Officers Moore and Rogers on the charge of malicious shooting and wounding without intent to kill. The latter is held as an accomplice.

It is alleged that Nance shot Thomas Ryman, Jr., in the thumb on the night of September 1 near First and Broadway. Since the shooting the two had been in hiding as the officers could not secure a trace of them until this morning. They were locked up in the city jail to await the action of the court in the charge. It is understood that Nance and Ryman had a quarrel which ended in Nance drawing the pistol and shooting, although nothing definite could be learned about the shooting.

It will all be brought out in the trial, however. Nance's wife recently sued him for divorce and he is alleged to have jumped off the wharf-boat recently with suicidal intent, but was pulled out by a companion.

HEAD MASHED

Fatal Accident to an Illinois Central Brakeman.

Head Caught and Crushed Between Cars.

Steve Foster, of Dyersburg, a colored brakeman on the Illinois Central, was probably fatally injured last night at Ripley, Tenn., while coupling cars. His head got in the jam in some way and was badly crushed. The unfortunate victim was brought to the city this morning at 1:30 o'clock and placed in the railroad hospital for treatment. His condition today is very precarious and it is thought he cannot recover.

NOTHING NEW.

WILL LEWIS STILL AWAITING RESULT OF INVESTIGATION.

The police have not yet learned where Will Lewis, colored, arrested yesterday for selling a stolen horse to Mr. Fletcher Terrell, got the two horses he has in a livery stable here.

The horses were probably stolen somewhere in the district, but the owner has not yet been found. It is supposed he will be before the trial Saturday.

According to one of the Fulton papers he is supposed to have stolen a grey mare from Harrison Galbraith, at Clinton, and swapped her for one of the horses he now has.

Two men from Lowes, Graves county, are on their way here now to identify the horses in the stable here. The police believe Lewis is a professional wanted in several states.

CAUGHT IN ILLINOIS.

LEE WICKER WILL BE TAKEN BACK TO MAYFIELD.

Lee Vicker, who escaped from a deputy jailer at Mayfield last week after having been given up by his bondsmen on several boot legging charges, has been arrested at Brookport, Ill., according to reports and will be taken back at once by Marshal McNutt.

N. C. & ST. L. R. R. EARNINGS.

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 3—The gross earnings of the Nashville Chattanooga and St. Louis railway for August were $820,172.79, an increase over August 1902, of $84,761.02.

NO FRAUD IS SHOWN

Evidence in Alleged Bogus Ballot Case Show None Were Used

The investigation of alleged fraudulent ballots cast in Marshall county at or after the Democratic primary in May was resumed in Justice Jesse Young's court this morning.

When court convened at 10 o'clock Attorney Charles K. Wheeler, counsel for Mr. E. J. Paxton, general manager of The Sun, made the following statement:

"When investigation of this matter first came up Mr. Paxton came to us for advice giving us all the facts, and asked if he should go into court and make a voluntary statement of the case. We advised him not to as he was not guilty of any offense against the law. This fact is indisputable, and we deny the right of this court to summons him to answer any inquiries relative to this case. However Mr. Paxton is perfectly willing to tell all he knows about it and will willingly answer any questions you may ask him."

Mr. Paxton being sworn gave his evidence.

The substance is as follows: "About a week or ten days after the Taylor-Lovett primary and late in the afternoon, Mr. Luther Graham came in to the office and asked if we could do a small job of printing for him, and at once. He submitted a list of the names of candidates voted for in the primary as the work he wanted done. I asked him what he wanted with it and he said it was for a legitimate purpose, and upon my inquiry if he wanted to use it in the contest he replied that he did not, and upon that assurance we took the job. The only printer in the office at the time was one of the apprentices and he did the work that night and left it on my desk. A negro called for it the following morning and it was delivered to him. At the time the work was ordered Mr. Graham said the office could have the same slips back in a week if we cared for them, which was evidence they were to be used for no illegitimate purpose, and a week afterwards Mr. Graham, meeting me on the street, told me we could have them, but I replied he could destroy or do what he wanted with them."

I thought no more of the matter until sometime thereafter an investigation was started with which every one is familiar. I was north with some members of my family at the time and on my return learned that all the printers in the office had been before a magistrate and given their statements that they knew nothing of the matter. This is absolutely true. I had not realized before that the printing done might be construed as a violation of law and consulted an attorney to see what my position was. From my investigation I was sure the ballots used in Marshall county were not the slips printed at the office. My attorney advised me that this being the fact, rendered it all the less necessary to offer any statement about the matter and on his advice I kept silent about what I knew.

I did this, not because I had in my opinion, violated any law, but because I felt that in the state of public opinion, I being a Republican and this muddle a Democratic one, the average citizen would jump to the conclusion that my action was prompted by a desire to embarrass the Democratic party, which was not the case.

"In printing the tickets in controversy, ten days or two weeks after the election had been held and when the result had been announced, as I supposed to the satisfaction of everybody, I gave no thought to the idea that anybody would consider it a violation of law."

"When the News-Democrat came out with the statement that I was sought for in vain yesterday by a deputy sheriff I came down to the magistrate's office and informed him I would be on hand Thursday morning to give any evidence I had. I was down town all day, up to 2 o'clock, and went home at that time as I had a slight chill."

Mr. Graham's statement is as follows:

The affiant Luther A. Graham states that in justice to all parties and that no innocent parties may suffer, and no injustice be done to any one, he makes this sworn statement for publication relative to the question of slips he had printed, and which has been the subject of newspaper notoriety for the last several days.

Affiant states that he did have 250 slips printed at The Sun office with the names of the candidates for circuit judge, commonwealth's attorney, circuit court clerk printed thereon, the same names as those used on the ballots used in the primary election in Marshall county. I further state that none of these slips were ever used at any time, but after having been delivered to me from The Sun office I put them in my safe and there they remained until I delivered them to Esquire Young's court on the second day of September, 1903, and while I never have seen any of the alleged fraudulent ballots said to have been found in the ballot boxes of the Heights precinct, in Marshall county, yet I am reliably informed by those who have seen these ballots, that they are nothing like the slips I had printed.

It will, I presume, be a source of speculation as to why I had these slips printed, my reason for having the same printed is a matter that I at this time do not intend to divulge, suffice it to say, however, that neither Mr. John G. Lovett or George C. Edwards ever had any knowledge or information in any degree whatever, that Calvin Cary Shot and Killed on Lower Court.

A Negro Known as "Box Car" Runs Away—Trouble Over Throwing Baseball.

INQUEST HELD THIS MORNING

A game of "catch" resulted in a tragedy on lower Court street about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Calvin Cary and a negro named Glore, alias "Box Car" were playing ball, or rather tossing the ball to one another. One was on the sidewalk and the other in the street on Court between First and Second. Cary threw the ball too low and it struck "Box Car" on the shin. He sat down and rubbed his leg and when he got up threw the ball pretty hard at the other, which led to a quarrel. "Box Car" used some very abusive language towards Cary, and went into Storrie's saloon. Cary was mad about it and told his partner, Will Mack, that "Box Car" had been saying things about his, Cary's mother, and that he didn't like it.

"Box Car" about this time came to the door and said, "Yes, I said it," and Cary told him he might as well come out, because he was prepared to fight and it was only a matter of time until he caught him.

"Box Car" went into the saloon again and came out just about the time Cary remarked further in a loud tone that he was going to knock him in the head when he did come. "You're goin' to git it, yo," remarked Box Car as he made a lunge towards Cary and at the same instant shot him just over the heart.

Box Car went around the corner again and disappeared and Cary staggered over to a barber shop door and fell. He said as he was shot, "Oh, my Lord, I'm shot."

He said when they went to lay him down not to put him down that way, but to let him sit up, and lived ten or fifteen minutes.

The only eye witness before Coroner Peal when he held an inquest at Nance's this morning was Mack, who said if Cary had a knife or any other weapon, he did not see it. He said he wanted a knife to cut the dying man's shirt soon after he fell, and felt in his pockets for one, but that if Cary had any knife it was not in his pockets. After he had breathed his last, however, a small boy came over with a small four bladed knife and gave it to Mack, saying that Cary dropped it after being shot. The knife was produced before the coroner's jury.

Nobody seemed to know Glore, and out of the usual crowd of negroes in that section coroner Peal could not find any eye witnesses except Mack. Everybody was there just a little before or a short time afterwards. Mack at first claimed that he knew nothing of the shooting but County Attorney Graves arrived just before he was excused and had him sworn, and it was then found that he saw it all.

Cary was a steamboat negro and it is said lived in Burksville, Ky., but made this his headquarters. He was about 23 years old and it is said to have served a term in the penitentiary.

No one seems to know much about the negro who did the shooting. His last name is Glore but no one knows any other name except "Box Car" for him. He went down the river front towards the I. C. incline after the killing and is supposed to have escaped into the woods.

The verdict complete is: We, the jury, find that the body now lying before us is that of Calvin Cary and that he came to his death from a pistol shot by the hands of—Glore, alias "Box Car." We further find that said killing is murder. Signed:

SMOKE AND WATER

Do Great Damage at the Weille Clothing Sale.

An Electric Iron Ignites a Table and Starts the Blaze—Greatest Damage From Smoke.

LOSS BETWEEN $10,000 AND $12,000

The B. Weille clothing establishment on Broadway between Fourth and Fifth streets, was visited by fire last night about 9:45 o'clock and damage to the extent of several thousand dollars done by fire, smoke and principally water and smoke. The proprietors have not yet been able to estimate the exact amount of damage, but roughly fix the figures between ten and twelve thousand dollars.

The fire was discovered by Mr. Harry Brantley, of the Palmer house, who saw a light in the rear of the building, seeming to come from the second floor. He quickly sent in an alarm, and the firemen found the entire tailoring department in the rear of the second story in flames. After half an hour's work the blaze was completely extinguished.

The fire is supposed to have originated from an electric iron used in pressing clothes which had probably been left charged and on a table, by the boy, instead of on the base iron, where it belonged. There were half a dozen clothes racks filled with over four dozen suits of clothes and overcoats, which were burned at a loss of about $500, but the principal damage comes from the smoke on the third floor. The clothes stored on this floor are supposed to be practically ruined, and the stock is large. The shoe department on the second floor was damaged greatly also by water and smoke.

Mr. Ben Weille stated this morning that the loss would be covered by insurance, he thought, but that they had no way of determining the exact damage until the stock has been gone through and invoiced. This will require some time and will be begun as soon as the insurance adjusters arrive to adjust the loss.

President of Marine Engineers Here on Inspection.

Is Being Entertained By Local Engineers Today.

Captain Frank Jones, national president of the Marine Engineers Beneficial association, who has been in the city for the past several days will go to Cairo tomorrow on the Dick Fowler and from there will go to St. Louis and then to Evansville and up the Ohio river.

Captain Jones is on his regular annual tour and has already traveled 21,000 miles since the first of the year. He did not come here on any particular purpose but looked into the matter of settling the matter of an increase in pay for engineers here who recently demanded an increase. Some have been increased while others have not but it is thought the matter will be settled satisfactorily to all within the next few weeks. He is being royally treated by the local engineers.

EDMUNDS TRADED

CATCHER AND FIRST BASEMAN SWAPPED OFF TODAY TO CAIRO.

Edmunds, the well known catcher, first and second baseman, of Paducah team, was today swapped off to Cairo for Ott, the catcher who alternates with Rutledge for the Egyptians. The deal was consummated by telephone and Edmunds will at once go to Cairo to join the team and Ott will come here. Edmunds is one of Paducah's heaviest hitters and most popular members.

THE GARDENER AND HIS DOG.

Find the Other Dog.

A Gardener's Dog, frisking about the brink of a well in the garden, happened to fall in. The Gardener very readily ran to his assistance, but as he was trying to help him out the Cur bit him on the Hand. The Man, annoyed at what he considered such ungrateful behavior towards one whose only aim was to save his life, came away and let the Dog drown.

Moral—All the obligations you lay upon an ungrateful person are thrown away, and therefore they who would be esteemed wise, as well as good, should use some exactness in the direction of their favors, as well as generosity in the bestowal of them.

PUBLIC DEBTS.

DECREASE OF $6,089,951 FOR THE MONTH OF AUGUST.

Washington, Sept. 3.—The monthly statement of the public debt shows that at the close of business August 31, 1903, the total debt, less cash in the treasury, amounted to $923,924,357, which is a decrease for the month of $6,089,951. This decrease is accounted for principally by the corresponding increase in the cash on hand. The debt is recapitulated as follows: Interest bearing debt, $914,451,400; debt on which interest has ceased since maturity, $1,204,070; debt bearing no interest, $391,629,597; total, $1,307,375,167. This amount, however, does not contain $896,739,869 in certificates and treasury notes outstanding, which are offset by an equal amount of cash on hand, held for their redemption. The cash in the treasury is classified as follows: Gold reserve fund, $150,000,000; trust funds, $896,734,869; general fund, $173,079,351 in national bank depositories, $152,317,776 in treasury of Philippine islands to credit of United States disbursing officers, $3,422,901; total, $1,374,539,898, against which there are demand liabilities amounting to $991,089,187, which leaves a cash balance on hand of $383,450,710.

RAISED FROM THE DEAD.

O. W. Landis, "Porter" for the Oriental Hotel, Chanute, Kan., says: "I know what it was to suffer with neuralgia, dead I did, and I got a bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment and I was 'raised from the dead.' I tried to get some more, but before I had 'deposited' my bottle, I was cured entirely. I am telling the truth, too." 25c, 50c and $1 at DuBois, Kolb and Co.

THE RED MEN.

THEIR COMING CARNIVAL ATTRACTING ATTENTION EVERYWHERE.

The indications are that the Red Men's carnival here this fall will be attended by one of the largest crowds that ever came to Paducah. It is being extensively advertised, and many strangers will come to Paducah during carnival week.

The Red Men's Amusement association is now getting things ready for the Indian village and trading post, which will correspond to the country store in former carnivals in Paducah. Messrs. G. R. Davis, H. O. Rhodes and Wm. Farley constitute the committee, and will have an ample corps of clerks. There will be a main tent and many smaller tepees where the goods may be purchased, and prizes will be given away each day.

GROUP.

Usually begins with the symptoms of a common cold; there is chilliness, sneezing, sore throat, hot skin, quick pulse, hoarseness and impeded respiration. Give frequent small doses of Ballard's Horehound Syrup, the child will cry for it, and at the first sign of a croupy cough, apply frequently Ballard's Snow Liniment externally to the throat. 50c at DuBois, Kolb and Co.

MAD BEAST

GOES MR. HAM LEIGH, AT ISEMAN'S WAGON YARD.

A vicious ox badly gored Hammond Lee, an employee at the Iseman wagon yard at Second and Washington streets, about 8 o'clock last night. A couple of men from the country had the animal in charge and were trying to lead him away by stout ropes when the animal became unmanageable.

Mr. Lee ran out to assist the men and the ox succeeded in getting loose and knocking Mr. Lee down. The beast gored him to such an extent that his right arm was horribly lacerated, the flesh on the forearm being torn for several inches. The farmers rushed to the rescue of Mr. Lee, who was prostrate with the maddened bull still goring at him, and succeeded in getting the animal away.

Drs. Robertson and Hoyer attended Mr. Lee, and 46 stitches were required to close the wound. He will be laid up several weeks, but he was fortunate in escaping even with such serious wounds.

MUST REGARD THE LAW

FRAME HOUSES CANNOT BE BUILT IN FIRE LIMITS.

Chief Wood states that he will rigidly enforce the fire limits ordinance. A number of frame houses occasionally spring up inside the fire limits, which is against the law, and must be stopped. Hereafter all such structures will be required to come down. Chief Wood yesterday made an old colored man tear down a small frame shack he was putting up near the I. O. treatle down about First and Washington streets. He had it nearly complete.

DEVoured BY WORMS.

Children often cry, not from pain, but from hunger, although fed abundantly. The entire trouble arises from inanition, their food is not assimilated, but devoured by worms. A few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge will cause them to cease crying and begin to thrive at once, very much to the surprise and joy of the mother. 25c at DuBois, Kolb and Co.

TO BRANCH OUT.

PADUCAH MERCHANTS TO OPEN UP IN ILLINOIS TOWNS.

Messrs. Gilbert and Arenz, the well known commission brokers of the city, will open branch houses in Murphysboro and Marion, Ill. Mr. Arenz has just returned from Murphysboro, where he completed arrangements for opening up early next week. Mr. Ed Drennan, of the city, formerly proprietor of the New Richmond Hotel, will be in charge.

The one at Marion will be opened later, within a few weeks and Mr. J. M. Young of that place will be in charge.

Amateur Hoosier Detective Attempts to Make Arrest.

Alleged Raised Bill Dealer Escapes In the Woods and Prevents Important Arrest.

HEADQUARTERS NEW ORLEANS.

The gang of green goods, counterfeiting and raised bills men alleged to be responsible for the 25 or 30 raised bills turned loose in Paducah the 8th of August has been located through a murderous assault made on Charles Marshall, of Rege, Ind., who is in a dying condition in a New Albany hospital. The affair brings to light the fact that an organized gang of expert counterfeiters and "green goods" men with headquarters in New Orleans, have been operating extensively for some time in Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and Kentucky by selling "raised bills."

The tragedy resulted from the effort of an amateur detective of Orange county, Ind., to decoy a swindler to Indiana from New Orleans and place him under arrest. Had the plans of the young detective been successful a most important arrest would have been made, and perhaps the result would have been the capture of a whole band of counterfeiters, but by attempting to make the arrest without assistance and in a lonely wood, the detective may lose his life. The swindler made his escape and is now to be hunted down by the detectives, who have had more actual experience than the young farmer of Orange county.

Marshall's assailant was a man who gave his name as H. C. Hite and who came to New Albany from Chicago as a result of correspondence between Marshall and a swindler in New Orleans, which had been in progress for a year.

Marshall told a strange story of his experience as a detective. He said that he joined a detective agency some time ago, and had for a year been corresponding with a green goods man named Westfield, in New Orleans. Through Westfield, he said, he got into correspondence with H. C. Hite, of Chicago, who was a dealer in raised bills. After a few letters had passed between Marshall and Hite the detective proposed a meeting at French Lick Springs with a view to luring the green goods man, to a place where he could effect his capture. Hite did not want to come to French Lick, where he was doubtless known, but agreed to meet Marshall in New Albany, and the men met there a week ago and held numerous conferences, in which Marshall represented himself as being willing to purchase a large amount of raised bills.

Marshall engaged a room at the home of James Polson, a friend, who lives at 1013 East Market street, New Albany a few days. After Marshall had been in New Albany a few days he confided to his friend his plans in the detective line. He had little money, and he told Polson that if he had $200 to make a "flash" on Hite he believed he could lead him into a trap. Polson had some money and proposed to lend it to him for the purpose indicated.

Marshall consented to the proposition, and that day Polson gave him a roll of bills containing $290. This was Monday afternoon, and that night Marshall had an appointment to meet Hite in Scribner park, in New Albany. The conversation turned to the sale of raised bills, which Hite was trying to dispose of, and Marshall produced the roll that he had borrowed from Polson. He told Hite that he had $290, which he would give him for $2,000 in raised bills. Hite consented to the proposition, and it was arranged that Hite deliver the bills to Marshall's room the next morning.

Early yesterday Hite appeared at Marshall's room and informed him that the raised bills were hid in the woods about two miles from town. He insisted that Marshall accompany him to the spot. Marshall consented. He then procured of Polson the key to the house, and asked that he and his wife vacate the place for a few hours that he might get the counterfeiters back to the house and place him under arrest. He and Hite then set out for the woods to get the raised bills. In the woods when the amateur detective attempted the arrest a fight ensued, in which he was badly used up, and his intended victim escaped.

STOLEN MULE

Causes Disagreement Between Mayfield and Benton Men

Standing Reward of $50 Offered by the State Claimed By Three Men.

An interesting controversy has arisen between Marshal McNutt and the sheriff of Graves county and Mr. Pete Eley, of Benton, as to who is entitled to the $50 reward offered by the state for the arrest of George Dunn, at Benton, for the alleged theft of a mule from George Sutton, of near Mayfield.

Sutton missed his mule a few days ago and suspecting Dunn came to Mayfield and procured a warrant for his arrest. He placed the papers in the hands of the sheriff at Mayfield, who enlisted the services of Marshal McNutt in the work of securing Dunn's capture. Marshal McNutt worked the case up and learned that the man had gone to Benton. Deputy Sheriff Harris was in Paducah and following instructions went to Benton to arrest his man. In the meantime Dunn had sold the mule to Pete Eley who suspected something wrong and telegraphed to find out. He learned that a warrant was out for Dunn and going to the house where Dunn was staying arrested him. Deputy Sheriff Harris arrived and demanded the prisoner but Eley would not give him up, saying that he was entitled to the reward for the arrest.

The matter has aroused much interest in both Mayfield and Benton and will be taken before Judge Husbands here for settlement. McNutt claims the reward, Eley claims the reward and the sheriff claims it also, because he originally held the warrant. Dunn is still in jail at Benton waiting the action of the court.

DAILY AVERAGE, 2127.

Personally appeared before me this day E. J. Paxton, general manager of The Sun, who affirms that the above statement of the circulation of The Sun for the month of Aug., 1903, is true to the best of his knowledge and belief.

THE WEATHER.

Fair tonight and Friday.

MCCHESNEY'S LITTLE GAME.

The motive of Mr. H. V. McChesney, state superintendent of public instruction, in having the warrants against Louisville newspaper men for alleged criminal libel issued in Livingston county seems apparent. The Democrats like to take all cases in which they are interested, into courts where they are well acquainted or perhaps have a pull and Livingston is the former home of the professor. In addition, it will put the Louisville editors to considerable trouble and expense traveling 300 miles to fight the cases, and besides during their absence the Democratic officeholders may escape the daily exposure in the paper of their records, which they seem to fear so much. It is ten to one that if these cases go to trial in Supt. McChesney's stronghold the right kind of a jury will be on hand to see that the accused don't escape.

The Lexington Herald, Democratic, says along this line:

"It may be entirely proper in Mr. McChesney to appeal to the law, either to the civil or the criminal jurisdiction, and bring to the arbitrament of a judicial investigation the charges made against him by the Louisville Herald; but it is a blunder for him to have the warrant issued by a magistrate in Livingston county, and have the attorney and correspondent forced to distant county to defend. The records are in Frankfort. The judicial officers are in Frankfort. A trial not unsatisfactory to Mr. McChesney might easily be had. The Herald is published in Louisville, where the judicial officers are also Democrats. To obtain a warrant in Livingston and force a trial there will put Mr. McChesney in an awkward and unprofitable attitude. It will be charged that this is done—not to obtain a fair and impartial judicial investigation—but to intimidate these persons and by such a threat make them cease the assaults on him and his associates on the ticket.

"Mr. McChesney knows the facts exactly, he has it in his power to demonstrate that the Louisville Herald is indeed guilty of fabricating a criminal and infamous lie against him. The truth—if this be a libel—will be of vast service to him and his ticket. If he can establish by conclusive testimony that the Louisville Herald has been fabricating libels it destroys the influence of that paper. Put a trial in a distant and perhaps partisan tribunal, especially if there can be no trial until after the election and no exposure of the falsehoods as he alleges, will simply call closer attention and excite wider and keener suspicion. If Mr. McChesney and those who have been advising and making these violent assaults on the Herald do not take wiser counsel they will succeed in securing for it a state circulation and an interested and believing audience."

The platform adopted at the Pennsylvania Democratic convention was a cut-and-dried affair, and in most instances simply re-affirms the action of former Democratic conventions. The only hope the Democrats seem to have of winning is because of the sentiment against the present governor for endorsing the libel law. They will see, however, that the Republicans will roll up their usual victory.

A lunatic created considerable excitement among the yellow journals by visiting Oyster Bay and asking to see the president several times. He doubtless had no intention of doing any one harm, and lurid reports of attempted assassination were entirely unjustifiable.

Brown, the cotton king, has made good with his corner, and is one of the few men who have successfully carried out a deal of such giant proportions. He gets seven millions spot cash for spot cotton. If Brown is a sensible man he will quit now.

The Democratic press is busy picking up something of which it may make an issue in the presidential campaign next year. It has found nothing yet except a few postoffice cases.

W. J. Bryan who has been helping the Republican party in Ohio by making Democratic speeches, has ended his campaign and left the state.

The next thing promised by the plungers is dollar wheat

DIED IN INDIANA.

MOTHER OF MR. H. S. WELLS DIES FROM MALARIAL FEVER.

Mrs. Mary Wells, mother of Mr. H. S. Wells of this city, died last night at Kewanee, Ind., of malarial fever. Mrs. Wells' home was in Logansport, Ind., but she was visiting in Kewanee, when she was taken sick, about ten days ago. Mr. Wells was summoned to her bedside last Saturday, but returned home Tuesday, leaving her very much improved.

Mrs. Wells was 71 years of age and left a husband, two sons and one daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Wells left this afternoon for Logansport to attend the funeral.

Too Patriotic.

Patrick had worked hard all his days, but his sons had spent his money for him, and when he was too old for active work he was offered the position of crossing-tender at a small railway station. He looked dubious as the duties of the office were explained to him, and the meaning of the various flags was clearly stated. "In case of danger, with a train coming, of course you wave the red flag," said his friend, proceeding with his explanation. A hard old hand grasped his arm: "Man, dear, it'll never do," said Patrick, shaking his head solemnly. "I could never trust myself to remember to wave a red flag when there was a green wan handy."

OPENING ANNOUNCEMENT

THE COLUMBIA TO OPEN ITS DOORS AT 2 P. M. SATURDAY.

After much delay from various causes we now have our fine Lippencott Fountain in running order and ready for our opening.

We will not open as usual Saturday morning, but in order to give the decorators full sway, will keep our doors closed till 2 p. m. on that date. At that hour we will be prepared to show to the people the Finest Fountain in the state, the most modern and equipped apartments for the production of High Grade Fountain drinks in the South. Everything has been designed by experts of national reputation. The sanitary equipment is perfect, the material the best which money can buy. All our drinks are being prepared by an expert who has spent a life time in this special line of work. He recently opened the great Hegman Fountain in New York, which is the latest addition to the many fine fountains of the big city. We refer to Mr. Corcoran who arrived in the city Monday morning for this special work, coming direct from New York. At the hour named, 2 p. m., Saturday, September 5th, we invite everybody and especially the ladies, assuring all polite and courteous attention. We feel confident that our efforts to give Paducah an up-to-date place fully in accord with the demands of our thriving, bustling city will be fully appreciated.

ANGEL NOT ASSIGNED.

AN EPISODE IN WHICH MISS CLARA BARTON SHARED SOME TIME AGO.

Miss Clara Barton, the founder of the American Red Cross, narrated recently at Atlantic City an episode in which she shared during a visit to the insane asylum at Norristown, Pa., that she made some years ago.

Miss Barton went all through the huge and well-kept asylum, and nothing extraordinary happened till she was departing. Then two men, conversing earnestly together, came over the lawn toward her. The first, lifting his hat politely said:

"Madam, I am the angel Gabriel, and I have been sent here by our Lord to inquire into the state of your spiritual health."

Before Miss Barton could reply, the second man spoke up:

"Pay no attention madam," he said, "to this person. I am God the Father, and I assure you that I assigned no one to such an errand."—Detroit News-Tribune.

Prompt attention to this will save property owners additional cost. STEWART DICK, Assessor, Office, City Hall.

Purchases of silver bullion for Philippine coinage are to be discontinued owing to the high price of the metal.

THE FIRST AD.

To advertise once is better than to never advertise at all, because one time, if it is done properly, takes the kinks out and paves the way for the second time.—White's Sayings.

The Columbia Fountain will open at 2 p. m. Saturday, Sept. 5.

same had been done, I positively assert that neither of these gentlemen ever had any understanding with me at any time about getting or using any ballots in said election, nor the perpetration of any kind of fraud, and I will again positively assert that I did not get any ballots printed for the purpose of being used in the race for commonwealth's attorney at all, for I had no especial interest in this race.

When I desired Mr. Ed Paxton to print the slips for me, he refused to do so until I told him that I did not intend to use them, but would bring them back in a short time to him and he could destroy them. He then printed them and after I had the slips possibly a week, met him and told him that I would bring them back and he said to me to go ahead and destroy them that they were no account for anything. That is all there is to it, and the endeavor of certain individuals and newspapers to discredit Mr. Lovett and Mr. Edwards is entirely based upon false premises, as neither of them at any time knew anything about the same. This September 3, 1903.

LUTHER A. GRAHAM.

Subscribed and sworn to and before me by Luther A. Graham this the third day of September, 1903.

PETER PURYEAR,

Notary Public McCracken County, Ky.

My commission expires at the end of the next session of the senate.

Friends of Mr. Lovett declare now that they do not believe any bogus ballots were used in the primary and account for the difference in ballots by saying that Mr. Leake may have been mistaken when he said only one form was used in printing the official ballots, and that no changes were made. It is said that the officials' ballots had Attorney J. M. Worten's name spelled two different ways showing conclusively that some change must have been made or the mistake in Mr. Worten's name could not have been corrected. They also say that for Mr. Lovett or any of his friends to have stuffed the ballot box in his own home precinct, where he would naturally get every vote, is preposterous.

It is also claimed that only the election officers or some one to whom they gave keys could have possibly got to the ballots.

One lawyer said today: "It seems strange to me that if fraud was committed in Marshall county they didn't go to Marshall county to investigate it. If there were any fraudulent ballots in those boxes they could not be there without the knowledge of the men with the keys. If they do not know who had the keys they could easily find out by summoning persons to answer questions, as they did in this county. If there was any fraud in Marshall county certainly the proper way to begin would be to summon the election officers before a court of inquiry."

It was announced today that the investigation would probably not end for a week yet, as there are several other witnesses that will be examined. No action will be taken until the inquiry is concluded.

Lindsey, vice president and general manager of the company, leaves tonight for Boston to represent the Sutherland Medicine Co. at the Patent Medicine association, and Wholesale Druggist association, which meets in that city the week of September 12. The Sutherland Medicine company is a member of both associations.

TOLD SECOND HAND.

AN INTERESTING TRUE TALE OF FEEDING.

A bright young woman of Coin, Iowa, who keeps her eyes open tells an interesting and true story of her chum's experience with food.

She says: "She had nervous dyspepsia for several years and when an attack came on she would go to a physician and get some relief up to last year when she had the grip which left her very weak and then her stomach collapsed and refused to retain anything but the very simplest foods. Soon she could not eat even those and for seven days she had no nourishment but raw egg and milk and she was told by a physician that a change of air and scene might restore her to partial health but she would probably die of consumption of the bowels.

"She always complained of terrible distress after eating which was soon followed by vomiting yet she was so hungry all the time that she would try to eat. One day she read an article about Grape Nuts and asked her father to get some and he went out and bought a package. She took a tablespoonful moistened with milk. The taste was delicious and satisfying and to every one's surprise there was absolutely no pain or trouble in her stomach after eating it.

"After a couple of hours she called for some more Grape Nuts and this time the amount was doubled and soon after eating it she fell into a sound, natural sleep, sleeping for several hours, something she had not done since her illness without the aid of morphine. She continued to use Grape Nuts alone for one week improving rapidly all the time and then began to increase her diet as her returning strength and appetite made this possible.

"Four months from the time she first commenced the use of Grape Nuts she became a comparatively healthy girl quite strong and vigorous eating, sleeping and working much better than she had done for years. She and all of her friends feel that she owes her life to the scientific food Grape Nuts." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Look in each package for a copy of the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville."

READERS of fiction have pronounced this story to be one of the best ever put forth by an American writer. It is a story of the early times in the West when the hardy settlers had to contend with the country's native population. The heroine is a remarkably attractive character and her experiences are unusual, often times exciting and always interesting.

We have purchased the serial rights and our readers are to have the privilege of perusing this masterpiece in these columns.

IT WILL BEGIN SHORTLY. Be Sure to Read the First Chapters.

Why Not Raise Wages?

The world is waiting for a multimillionaire who is willing to lessen his burdensome income by increasing the pay of those who are the instruments of his success. Let him do what he pleases with his surplus accumulations. It would not be in every sense agreeable to see him bestow it as a gratuity on his employees, for such a course would have the appearance of charity. But let him recognize the past and present services of his helpers by such an increase in wages as would be commensurate with the great value of those services and would also serve to decrease the embarrassment of riches.—Kansas City Star.

PLUMBERS' HORSE RAN AWAY

A horse belonging to Councilman Ed Hannan, the plumber, was frightened this afternoon while standing in front of the shop at Fourth and Court streets and ran away. A big wagon loaded with awnings from the Jackson mattress factory came by and frightened the animal but it was stopped before it had reached Broadway. No damage was done.

Famous Drums.

The drums used by the Scots Guards in South Africa have just been sold, and in some cases they fetched between $300 and $350 apiece, a price which is nearly eight times as much as they originally cost.

TO LIVE A CENTURY.

YOU HAVE A BETTER CHANCE, IF A WOMAN, THAN A MAN.

From the New York Sun.

Every woman, so the story goes, carries with her signs which to the experienced tell whether she will live long. Here are some of the supposed signs of longevity.

The eyes must be round and wide rather than long and narrow, and if they are brown or hazel, life will be longer than if they were black or violet.

The neck must be full and pillar-like, rather than slender.

The brow must be ample and slope back slightly from an absolute perpendicular. The head must be wide behind and over the ears.

The mouth must be full and well set, and the chin square and firm.

The nose must be wide and full through its whole length, and have open, easily dilating nostrils. This indicates a good heart and good lungs.

If the orifice of the ear is low, denoting a deeply seated brain, there is a better chance of long life.

The woman who appears taller in proportion when sitting down than when standing has a good chance to live long. If the body is long in proportion to the limbs, the heart, lungs and digestive organs are large.

The pulse should beat with full normal stroke. Limbs and joints should be large and well formed, the flesh neither too hard nor too soft.

Those who resemble their mothers may expect to live longest, and the first born is longer lived than other children. For example, a sister born ten years before another sister is supposed to have six years' duration of life.

It is well known that women live longer than men, but so far there is no satisfactory explanation of why this is so. Out of a million people, 225 women and only eighty-two men reach the age of 100 years. Maybe it is because a woman gets more sleep than a man, for the longer a person sleeps the longer will life last. Nearly all long-lived people have been great sleepers.

When M. de Lesseps was on the ocean he would sleep twenty hours at a stretch. Gladstone averaged twelve hours' sleep a day. A man or woman who would learn to sleep eighteen hours a day might live 200 years.

On the secrets of longevity, therefore, is to take plenty of sleep. Other rules which the seeker after a length of days should observe are these:

Sleep on the right side.

Keep the bedroom window open all night.

Don't take a cold tub in the morning, but a bath the temperature of the body.

Don't allow any pets in the living room. They may carry disease germs.

Take daily exercise in the open air, and live in the country; if not all the year, at least five or six months.

Occasionally change your occupation.

Take frequent and short holidays.

Watch the three D's—drinking water, dampness and drains.

Limit your ambitions.

Keep your temper.

LANG BROS. SUCCESSFUL.

INDUCED DR. HOWARD COMPANY TO MAKE SPECIAL PRICE.

After a great deal of effort and correspondence, Lang Bros., the popular druggists, have succeeded in getting the Dr. Howard Co. to make a special half price introductory offer on the regular fifty cent size of their celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia.

This medicine is a recent discovery for the cure of all diseases of the stomach and bowels. It not only gives quick relief, but it makes permanent cures.

Dr. Howard's specific has been so remarkably successful in curing constipation, dyspepsia and all liver troubles, that Lang Bros. are willing to return the price paid in every case where it does not give relief.

The old-fashioned idea of dosing with mineral waters, cathartic pills or harsh purgatives will soon be a thing of the past. The best physicians are prescribing Dr. Howard's specific because it really gives the desired results and on account of the small and pleasant dose that is needed.

Headaches, coated tongue, dizziness, gas on stomach, specks before the eyes, constipation, and all forms of liver and stomach trouble are soon cured by this scientific medicine.

So great is the demand for this specific, that Lang Bros. have been able to secure only a limited supply, and every one who is troubled with dyspepsia, constipation or liver trouble should call upon them at once, or send 25 cents, and get sixty doses of the best medicine ever made, on this special half price offer, with their personal guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure.

OUTING SPOTS IN THE NORTHWEST

There are many places in the country of the Northern Pacific, some inexpensive, others better and more expensive, where one can spend the summer days pleasantly and healthfully. Among these are Walker in the Leech lake country, and Detroit and Battle Lake in the Lake Park region in Minnesota; Eaton's ranch, near Medora, N. D.; Hunter's Hot Springs in the Yellowstone valley, and Missoula and the Bitter-root valley in Montana; Lakes Pend d'Oreille and Cour d'Alene, Idaho; North Yakima in Eastern Washington, and Green River Hot Springs in the Cascades; Tacoma, Seattle, Port Townsend, Port Angeles and Victoria on Puget Sound, and many places along the Columbia river and on the Pacific Ocean from Portland as a center.

Those east of the Mississippi who wish a decided change should go to the Rockies or the Puget Sound and Columbia river and sea coast country. We can only hint at these things here, but write us giving particulars as near as you can, and we will try to give you the needed information to enable you to find what you want. And don't forget that Yellowstone Park is the chief of all tourist shrines.

MARY HARTWELL CATHERWOOD

(Based Upon the Mystery Surrounding the Fate of the Dauphin, Son of Louis XVI. and Marie Antoinette)

Copyright, 1901, by the BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY

"Monsieur," I said to Abbe Edgeworth, "I am ready now to hear the message which you mentioned to me last night."

"If madame will pardon me," he answered, "I will ask you to take me where we can confer alone."

"It is not necessary, monsieur. Mme. de Ferrier knows my whole story."

But the priest moved his shoulders. "I followed you in this remote place, monsieur, that we might talk together without interruption, unembarrassed by any witness."

Mme. de Ferrier rose. I put her into her seat again with authority.

"It is my wish, madame, to have at least one witness with Abbe Edgeworth and myself."

"I hope," he protested, "that madame will believe there can be no objection to my presence. I am simply following instructions. I was instructed to deliver my message in private."

"Monsieur," Edgeworth answered, "I would gladly withdraw to another room."

"I forbid it, madame," I said to her. "Very well," yielded Abbe Edgeworth.

He took a folded paper from his bosom and spoke to me with startling sharpness.

"You think I should address you as monseigneur, as the daughter of France should be addressed?"

"I do not press my rights. If I did, monseigneur the abbe, you would not have the right to sit in my presence."

"Suppose we humor your fancy. I will address you as monseigneur. Let us even go a little further and assume that you are known to be the daughter of France by witnesses who have never lost track of you. In that case, monseigneur, would you put your name to a paper resigning all claim upon the throne?"

"Is this your message?"

"We have not yet come to the message."

"Let us first come to the dauphin. When dauphins are as plentiful as blackberries in France and the court never sees a beggar appear without exclaiming, 'Here comes another dauphin,' why, may I ask, is Abbe Edgeworth sent so far to seek one?"

He smiled.

"We are supposing that monseigneur, in whose presence I have the honor to be, is the true dauphin."

"That being the case, how are we to account for the true dauphin's reception at Mittau?"

"The gross stupidity and many blunders of agents that the court was obliged to employ need hardly be assumed."

"Poor Bellenger! He has to take abuse from both sides in order that we may be polite to each other."

"As monseigneur suggests, we will not go into that matter."

Edgeworth sat as erect as a statue and as white.

I felt an instant's anxiety. Yet she had herself entirely at command.

"We have now arrived at the paper, I trust," said the priest.

"The message?"

"Oh, no. The paper in which you resign all claim to the throne of France, and which may give you the price of a principality in this country."

"I do not sign any such paper."

"Not at all?"

"Not at all."

"You are determined to hold to your rights?"

"I am determined not to part with my rights."

"Inducements large enough might be offered," he paused suggestively.

"The only man in France," I said, "empowered to treat for abdication of the throne at present is Napoleon Bonaparte. Did you bring a message from him?"

Abbe Edgeworth winced, but laughed.

"Napoleon Bonaparte will not last. All Europe is against him. I see we have arrived at the message."

He rose and handed me the paper he held in his hand. I rose and received it and read it standing.

It was one brief line:

Louis—You are recalled.

MARIE THERESE.

The blood must have rushed over my face. I had a submerged feeling, looking out of it at the priest.

"Well, monseigneur?"

"It is like her heavenly goodness."

"Do you see nothing but her heavenly goodness in it?"

"This is the message?"

"It is the message I crossed the ocean to bring."

"With the consent of her uncle?"

"Mme. d'Angouleme never expresses a wish contrary to the wishes of his majesty."

"We are, then, to suppose that Louis XVIII. offers me, through you, monseigneur, the opportunity to sign away my rights and, failing that, the opportunity of taking them?"

"Supposing you are monseigneur the dauphin, we will let our supposition run as far as this."

I saw distinctly the position of Louis XVIII. Marquis du Plessy had told me he was a mass of superstition. No doubt he had behaved, as Bellenger said, for the good of the royalist cause. But the sanction of heaven was not on his behavior. Bonaparte was not loose on him like the dragon from the pit. And Frenchmen, after yawning eleven months or so in the king's august face, threw up their hats for the dragon. In his second exile the inner shadow and the shadow of age combined against him. He had tasted royalty. It was not as good as he had once thought. Beside him always he saw the face of Marie Therese. She never forgot the hushed mystery of her brother. Her silence and obedience to the crown, her loyalty to juggling and evasion, were more powerful than resistance.

A young man, brought suddenly before the faded nation and proclaimed at an opportune moment, might be a successful toy. The sore old king would oil more than the royalist cause, and the blessing of heaven would descend on one who restored the veritable dauphin.

I never have seen the most stupid man doubt his power to ride if somebody hoists him into the saddle.

"Let us go further with our suppositions," I said. "Suppose I decline?"

I heard Mme. de Ferrier gasp.

The priest raised his eyebrows.

"In that case you will be quite willing to give me a signed paper declaring your reasons."

"I sign no paper."

"Let me suggest that monseigneur is not consistent. He neither resigns his supposed rights nor will he exercise them."

"I will neither resign them nor exercise them."

"This is virtually resigning them."

"The abbe will pardon me for saying it is not. My rights are mine, whether I use them or not."

"Monseigneur understands that opportunity is a visitor that comes but once."

"I understand that the most extraordinary thing has happened today that will ever go unrecorded in history. One Bourbon offers to give away a throne he has lost and another Bourbon refuses it."

"You may well say it will go unrecorded in history. Excepting this lady"—the abbe bowed toward Edgeworth—"there is no witness."

"Wise precautions have been taken," I agreed. "This scrap of paper may mean anything or nothing."

"You decline?" he repeated.

"I think France is done with the Bourbons, monseigneur the abbe. A fine spectacle they have made of themselves, cooling their heels all over Europe, waiting for Napoleon's shoes! Will I go sneaking and trembling to range myself among impotent kings and wrangle over a country that wants none of us? No; I never will! I see where my father slipped. I see where the eighteenth Louis slipped. I am a man tenacious beyond belief. You cannot loose my grip when I take hold. But I never have taken hold. I never will take hold of my native country, struggling as she is to throw off hereditary rule!"

"You are an American!" said Abbe Edgeworth contemptuously.

"If France called to me out of need I would fight for her. A lifetime of peaceful years I would toss away in a minute to die in one achieving battle for her. But she neither calls me nor needs me. A king is not simply an appearance—a continuation of hereditary rights!"

"Your position is incredible!" said the priest.

"I do not belittle the prospect you open before me. I see the practical difficulties, but I see well the magnificence beyond them."

"Then why do you hesitate?"

"I don't hesitate. A man is contemptible who stands shivering and longing outside of what he dare not attempt. I would dare if I longed. But I don't long."

"Monseigneur believes there will be complications?"

"I know my own obstinacy. A man who tried to work me with strings behind a throne would think he was struck by lightning."

"Sire," Mme. de Ferrier spoke out, "this is the hour of your life. Take your kingdom!"

"I should have to take it, madame. If I got it, My uncle of Providence has nothing to give me. He merely says, 'My dear dauphin, if Europe knocks Napoleon down will you kindly take hold of a crank which is too heavy for me and turn it for the good of the Bourbons? We may thus keep the royal machine in the family!'"

"You have given no adequate reason for declining this offer," said the priest.

"I will give no reason. I simply decline."

"Is this the explanation that I shall make to Mme. d'Angouleme? Think of the tender sister who says, 'Louis, you are recalled!'"

"I do think of her. God bless her!"

"Must I tell her that monseigneur planted his feet like one of these wild cattle and wheeled and fled from the contemplation of a throne?"

"You will dress it up in your own felicitous way, monseigneur."

"What do you wish me to say?"

"That I decline. I have not pressed the embarrassing question of why I was not recalled long ago. I reserve to myself the privilege of declining without saying why I decline."

"He must be made to change his mind, monsieur!" Mme. de Ferrier exclaimed.

"I am not a man that changes his mind every time the clock strikes." I took the padlocked book out of my breast and laid it upon the table. I looked at the priest, not at her. The padlocked book seemed to have no more to do with the conversation than a hat or a pair of gloves.

I saw, as one sees from the side of the eye, the scarlet rush of blood and the snow white rush of pallor which covered her one after the other. The moment was too strenuous. I could not spare her. She had to bear it with me.

She set her clenched hands on her knees.

"Sire!"

I faced her. The coldest look I ever

"Look! You are a king!"

as in her gray eyes repelled me, as she deliberately said:

"You are not such a fool!"

I stared back as coldly and sternly, and deliberately answered:

"I am—just—such a fool!"

"Consider how any person who might be to blame for your decision would despise you for it afterward!"

"A boy in the first flush of his youth," Abbe Edgeworth said, his fine jaws squared with a grin, "might throw away a kingdom for some woman who took his fancy and whom he could not have, perhaps, unless he did throw his kingdom away, and after he had done it he would hate the woman. But a young man in his strength doesn't do such things!"

"A king who hasn't spirit to be a king!" Mme. de Ferrier mocked.

I mercilessly faced her down.

"What is there about me? Sum me up. I am robbed on every side by any one who cares to fleece me. Whenever I am about to accomplish anything I fall down as if knocked on the head!"

To Our Dorothy Dodd Customers and Also Those Who Have Never Worn This Celebrated Shoe.

DEAR FRIENDS:

YOU have the average health and the average strength of a woman of your age. Yet you find yourself unduly fatigued by a day spent upon your feet. This is not a question of your condition but a question of your shoes. It is just here that we can help you.

We have built our famous "Dorothy Dodd" Shoe on an entirely new plan

Not shaping it from guesswork measurements on a wood last, but using the actual bones, muscles and ligaments of the foot as the last for the shoe, working entirely from "X-ray" photographs. The result is the most remarkable shoe you ever dreamed of, and one which makes no day too long for its happy possessor. We can never make you realize its comfort till you try a single pair. Won't you do this today?

GEO. ROCK.

French Lick and West Baden Springs

In the highlands of Indiana—a two hour ride from Louisville there flow wonderful healing waters, that you'd spend hundreds of dollars to enjoy if they were in Europe.

A recent visitor from Philadelphia, who formerly went to Carlsbad every year, said: "I do not see why anyone goes to Europe for medicinal waters. The water is as beneficial, and the scenery and surrounding country, the air and the opportunities for recreation are better; the hotels and all accommodations are much finer at French Lick-West Baden Springs"—and this gentleman is a native of Switzerland.

The splendidly wooded hills with the cool, invigorating air of these highlands where one can enjoy rambles in the depths of the forest, or rides and drives among the numerous bridle paths and roadways, afford pleasure for those who desire rest and quiet; while at the splendid and casinos one can have all the entertainment and pleasures possible at the most fashionable resorts.

STUBBLEFIELD'S LATEST.

HIS "BIG COMPANY" HAS GONE OUT OF EXISTENCE.

Nathan Stubblefield, the Murray, Calloway county inventor, who claims to have made some wonderful inventions, etc., and claimed a few years ago to have invented perpetual motion machine, comes to the front again by the following card in the Murray Ledger which explains itself:

PUBLIC NOTICE.

The Wireless Telephone Company of America, organized for the development of my inventions has gone out of existence. Gerald M. Fennell, the promoter, has gone to Europe. My inventions have reverted back to me, the essentials unknown to my colleagues. Out of something over two thousand dollars paid me by the promoter before transfer to the company, I have been able to very much develop my inventions, which are soon to be exploited under quite a different management. Fennell proved unreliable, hence this notice and statement, showing to the public "why all this delay."

This September 1, 1903.—Nathan Stubblefield.

NEW INSTRUCTOR.

Theatrical Notes.

Lew Dockstader, the minstrel, tells this story:

"We were traveling from Cleveland the other day, and I went into the smoker where I found a score of musicians belonging to a band that was touring the country. Some of them were playing pinochle, while others were taking a nap.

The bass drummer was snoring loudly when the conductor came along and touched him on the shoulder.

"Ticket," he said.

The drummer, half asleep, fumbled among his pockets, and finally growled "I've lost my ticket."

"Come! Come!" exclaimed the conductor, irritated, "you couldn't lose a thing like a ticket. That would be impossible."

"Impossible!" shouted the drummer rising angrily to his feet. "Impossible? Why confound your skin, Sir, I lost my bass drum a month ago."

Jerrold Shephard's new drama of Creole life, "Red River," will be played for the first time at New Rochelle, New York, September 5. The tour is under the direction of Charles Nuckols.

Tim Murphy and his company are busy rehearsing "The Man From Missouri," and Mr. Murphy says that the new play is by far the best that he has ever presented.

CARD OF THANKS.

To the many kind friends who sympathized with and assisted us in our great trouble, in the death of our beloved daughter, Louise, whose last hours were soothed and relieved by their ministrations, we return many thanks. May they when their hour of trial comes, be comforted in like manner is the prayer of the bereaved family.

HAYES' BEECHWOOD EMULSO-HYPO WITH IRON

Makes Fat, Strength, Blood, Bone and Muscle.

If you are tired, broken down, despondent, worn out, pale, losing flesh, have no energy, don't feel like arising in the morning for the day's work, you should take a bottle of this wonderful medicine.

BEGOTA, Miss., March 19, 1903.
Gentlemen: It affords me no little pleasure to testify to the wonderful properties of Hayes' Beechwood Emulso-Hypo with Iron, as it saved my life when the physicians said that I could not get well. After taking six or eight bottles I weighed 125 pounds. That has been ten years and I am still living in fine health. Wishing you success in its sale, I am yours truly,
FRED S. DAWSON.

ABINGDON, Ky., March 18, 1903.
Gentlemen: Having used Hayes' Beechwood Emulso-Hypo with Iron I cannot commend it too highly to others as a tonic flesh builder and to give strength, blood and muscle. It is superior to any preparation of which I have any knowledge. I take pleasure in recommending it.
R. W. NEWSON.

Read what the editor of the Southerner, Okolona, Miss., says:

Shoffner-Hayes Medicine Co., Paducah, Ky. In 1901 my mother commenced taking Hayes' Beechwood Emulso-Hypo with Iron, when the doctors said her lungs were so badly involved that she would not likely survive but a few weeks. It improved her so rapidly that she was soon in good health for one of her years. I wish you the success you deserve with your Beechwood Emulso-Hypo.

Suffered six years with a cough that threatened Consumption. Entirely cured by Beechwood Emulso-Hypo.

MAVPIED, Ky., May 30, 1903.
Shoffner-Hayes Medicine Co., Paducah, Ky. Dear Sirs: I suffered for six years with a cough that threatened Consumption. This spring I took 24 bottles of Hayes' Beechwood Emulso-Hypo and it cured my cough, and I think I am entirely well. Yours truly,
